

Dear SIRcumciser...

I have a strong fantasy about being restrained. My cock exposed and hard. A shiny scalpel in your hand reflects on the bright halogen lamp above my middle. You slowly press the scalpel to the scar line of my circumcision in a threatening yet playful manner your eyes gleam as I see the edge of your mouth grin ever so slightly.

You say: "You're sufficiently cut, so I'm not going to re-circumcise you, but I will tidy up that scar a bit!", as you gently drag the scalpel across my scar line... it feels sharp like a paper cut, I see a bead of blood come to the skin's surface slowly, slightly delayed after your scalpel passes over.

It takes an unusual amount of time for you to go all the way around. As you cut, I don't feel it until a few milliseconds later, when it ramps up, feeling like you've poured salt in it because now it's stinging significantly! I stay still as you warn me: "Stop fucking jumping around or I'll cut your dick off! Is that what you want?!?!"

I obey your instructions and a small rubber dildo is placed between my teeth to bite into, in order to distract from the pain as you retract my shaft skin, as if it were foreskin, de-gloving my penis fully... you stoke it back and forth a little, as if it WERE foreskin! If it didn't hurt so bad, I'd have enjoyed it! Surprisingly, there's far less blood than I thought there would be!

You examine my penis in close detail without the skin on manipulating it with my knob you look under you look from side to side and then you look distally. With a thorough understanding of the mechanics of how my penis operates, you put a couple surgical marker points on the de-sleeved tissue and on the frenular and mucosal tissue remnants... "This is where it gets a little more painful -- you might want to bite down on your rubber dildo!"

Another circular cut is made trimming my mucosal tissue by about 5mm. "I can't take all of your mucosal tissue, that would be cruel and I'm saving it for a future cut and turn your cock into a dildo just like that thing in your mouth!"

Fuck! This really fucking hurts! It's like getting cut on baker foil!!

My mucosal tissue which once was 3 centimetres is now about 2cm after you even everything out... you take a pair of surgical shears and trim up the shaft skin so it's a nice even straight line and then pull it up to the mucosal tissue moving it left to right to make sure the alignment is just right. The first suture goes in distally, yes it hurts but not as much as everything else did! Another suture is done on the underside and then one on each flank.

Steri-strips and surgical glue are then used to close the wound followed by cotton gauze and a compression bandage! You embrace me and schedule a follow-up in 7 days.

My address and house keys are enclosed. Please come whenever you want and do the deed.